- Department of Labor
- Department of Justice
- Center for Medicare and Medicaid Services
- State and local agreements between agencies and VR mandated by WIOA

Higher Performing Framework

The diagram illustrates the High Performing States Model. It is structured into three main columns: CATALYSTS, STRATEGY, and OUTCOMES. Under CATALYSTS, there is a circular flow between 'Leadership' and 'Values'. An arrow points from this circle to the STRATEGY column, which lists 'Policy & Goals', 'Financing', 'Training & TA', 'Service Innovation', and 'Outcome Data'. Another arrow points from STRATEGY to the OUTCOMES column, which contains 'Integrated Jobs'. At the bottom, a blue bar labeled 'INTERAGENCY COLLABORATION' has three upward-pointing arrows supporting the CATALYSTS, STRATEGY, and OUTCOMES sections. A small note '(Harter et al. 2007)' is in the bottom left of the diagram. The State Employment Leadership Network logo is in the bottom right.

RESULTS OF OUTREACH

- TRANSFER OF KNOWLEDGE
- ESTABLISHED RELATIONSHIPS
- COMMON UNDERSTANDING OF EXPECTATIONS
- TAKE ADVANTAGE OF EVERY OPPORTUNITY

LESSONS LEARNED OR SURPRISES

- MUST DO IT OVER AND OVER AND OVER AGAIN- ENGAGE EARLY AND OFTEN
- VISUALS ARE VERY HELPFUL – ESSE TIMELINE
- SERVICE RECIPIENTS WERE NOT BEATING DOWN OUR DOORS, WE HAD TO BEAT ON THEIRS
 - HIGH NUMBER OF PERSONS WHO ARE INTERESTED IN EMPLOYMENT
 - PRIMARY BARRIERS: LEGACY SYSTEM AND FEAR

Three state perspectives

Q 1: What outreach did you do and what was the driving purpose?

Q2: What happened - what did you learn and where do you think stakeholder outreach has been most useful?

Q3: Were you surprised by anything you learned? Were there things you did not want to hear, and what did you do?

Q4: What has yielded the biggest “bang for the buck”?

Round robin Q5: If you had it to do again, would you do the same outreach, or change, and how?
