Did you ever wonder...

- How the ICI survey was developed and evolved over time?
- Are there any good tips for completing the ICI survey?
- Who in your state completes the ICI survey?
- How can you use the data to support employment change?

ICI Survey Development and Evolution

- Began in 1985 as the National Survey for Adults with Developmental Disabilities
 - Focused on employment settings
 - Sheltered, transitional training, supported, and competitive
 - Focused on individuals with developmental disabilities
 - Completed using pencil and paper
 - Surveyed all 50 states and DC

5

Changes to the survey overtime

- Name: National Survey of State Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities Agencies' Employment and Day Services
- Survey categories: integrated employment, community based-non-work, facility based work, facility-based non-work, and other
 - Focuses on service settings and funds spent on those services
- Online survey (2004)

6

Service Categories:
What do they mean? And why?

• Total served

– unduplicated count = individuals served in employment and day services are only counted once even if they receive more than one service

– individuals who participated in day and employment services funded or monitored by your agency

– include Medicaid authority funded services for which referral, program monitoring, or case management are provided by your agency

– don't include services conducted on the grounds of residential facilities with 16 or more residents

7

Service Categories: What do they mean? And why?

• Integrated employment services

– individuals who received integrated employment services funded or monitored by your agency

– Integrated employment services include:

• (a) job development services (including discovery and career planning as part of a job development process) that are intended to directly result in paid integrated employment

• (b) services to maintain paid integrated employment (including job training, job coaching (both individual and group), ongoing supports, and services for self-employment).

– don't services provided by your state vocational rehabilitation agency or education agency.

8

Service Categories: What do they mean? And why?

• Facility based work services

– individuals who received facility-based work services funded or monitored by your agency

– Facility-based work services include all employment services which occur in a setting where the majority of employees have a disability, and occur in setting where continuous job-related supports and supervision are provided to all workers with disabilities.

• This service category is typically referred to as a Sheltered Workshop, Work Activity Center, or Extended Employment program and includes facility based pre-vocational services.

– don't include services provided by your state vocational rehabilitation agency or education agency

9

Service Categories: What do they mean? And why?

- Community based non-work services
 - individuals who received community-based non-work services funded or monitored by your agency
 - Don't include services that are provided in the community as part of a facility-based non-work program
 - Is sometimes is referred to as Community Life Engagement, Community-Based Day or Community-Based Non-Work

Service Categories: What do they mean? And why?

- Community-based non-work services are services focused on supporting people with IDD to participate in individually chosen and scheduled activities and at locations in the community that members of the general community typically participate in and access.
- May include volunteer work; postsecondary, adult, or continuing education; accessing community facilities such as the library, gym, or recreation center; any activities that people with and without disabilities do in their spare time.
- May include activities that support career exploration, wrap around work time, or serve as a retirement option.

11

Service Categories: What do they mean? And why?

- Facility based non-work
 - individuals who received facility-based non-work services funded or monitored by your agency
 - This service category is also referred to as Day Activity, Day Habilitation, and Medical Day Care programs
 - include all services that are located in a setting where the majority of participants have a disability
 - Individuals may participate in community outings and activities, but the majority of an individual's time is spent in the program setting, and continuous supports and supervision are provided to all participants with disabilities.
 - These activities include but are not limited to: psychosocial skills development, activities of daily living, recreation, and/or professional therapies

Service Categories: What do they mean? And why?

- Other employment and day services
 - individuals who received employment and day services that do not match the descriptions for the other service categories.
- States choose to report data in the other category if they cannot:
 - break apart non-integrated employment services from each other, or
 - Break apart non-work services into community and facility based settings, or
 - use a specific service to support retirement age clients

Tips for completing IDD survey

- Incremental work – do a section at a time, save, come back later
- Use printable version of the survey, complete on paper
- Look at last year’s data to see the differences
- Organize in state review of data. Form a group and have a conversation about changes in data, definitions, etc.
- Final review of data with the team before submitting
