

SELN Monthly Network Meeting

Key Takeaways

July 16, 2025

Overview:

This was the first meeting of the SELN's 20th year. It included discussion of the High Performing States model on which the SELN has been based, results of the recent membership survey, and discussion of state priorities for the upcoming year.

Data Minute:

The High Performing States framework, which was developed to identify the elements of state systems that allow for better employment results for people with intellectual and developmental disabilities (IDD) and frame best practices encouraged by the SELN was discussed. Annual Meeting:

- This year's annual meeting will take place from Tuesday, October 21 from 2PM EDT to Thursday, October 23 at 1:30PM EDT.
- This year's annual meeting agenda is set around the theme: "Engage, Equip, Empower."
- Travel and reimbursement information, handouts and frequently asked questions about the annual meeting and a link to register can all be found here.

Discussion of Survey Results and 20th Year Planning:

- SELN membership survey results came from 23 respondents representing 14 states, with six partially completed surveys and 17 fully completed surveys.
- Aspects of the previous SELN membership year that went well included: Monthly calls, regular TA calls, support from the SELN team, the annual meeting, opportunities to network, and connecting with and hearing from states with similar challenges.

- Things that could be improved came down to what states wished for more of, including: Time and energy to commit to the work, engagement from their stakeholders, support addressing issues stemming from turnover in staff and leadership, and regional or small group connections with other member states.
- State Priorities include collaboration through cross-agency MOUs; collecting and sharing data, data-driven decisions and communicating data to varied audiences; Employment First priorities and implementation; and training case managers and providers about employment opportunities and the person-centered approach.
- Respondents thought the SELN could support states with accessible, plain-language resources to share with partners describing the SELN's work; topical and regional small group meetings; more CLE training/ discussions; and federal updates.
- Members polled at the meeting responded that training case managers and providers and data collection are particularly important priority areas going forward.
- Members commented that the eLearning course is very beneficial for newly hired case managers. They also commented that case managers' knowledge is disjointed, and that further training could focus on their understanding of waiver services. They could also benefit from opportunities to come together for trainings across states.

E-Learning Course Reminders

- The eLearning course has been updated over the summer. States will have access to new flyers about the course in August.
- Enrollment will begin on September 1, and the course will begin on September 8.
