

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

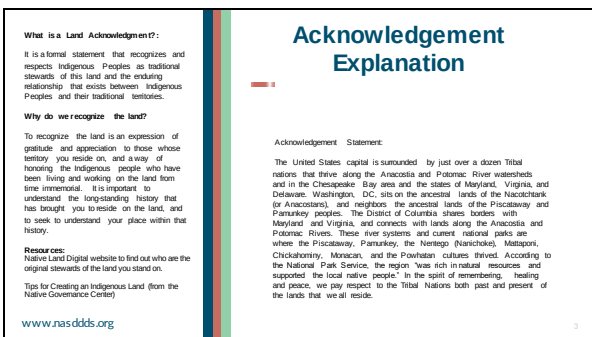

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

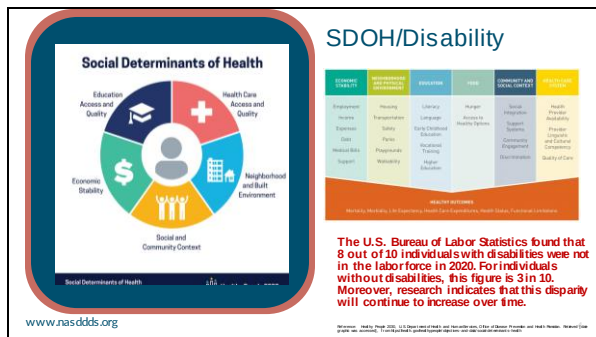

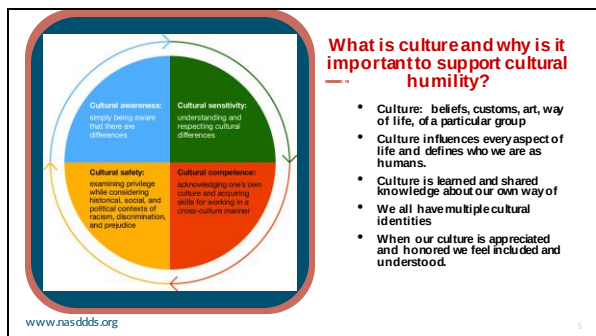

---

---

---

---

---

[illegible]

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

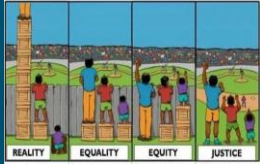

---

---

---

---

EQUITY

www.nasddds.org

- Reality – one gets more than is needed, while the other gets less than is needed. Thus, a huge disparity is created.
- Equality – The assumption is that everyone benefits from the same supports. This is considered to be equal treatment.
- Equity – Everyone gets the support they need, which produces equity.
- Justice – All 3 can see the game without supports or accommodations because the cause(s) of the inequity was addressed. The systemic barrier has been removed.

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

"The disability community is incredibly diverse," noted Maria Town, president and CEO of American Association of People with Disabilities (AAPD). "We often say that disability doesn't discriminate; it covers all sorts of people. It's the only diversity category of that you can enter at any time in your life."

Disabled workers—many of whom have no outward sign of disability—can still feel overlooked or undervalued by the companies they work for.

A recent study by Global Disability Inclusion (GDI) found that even among groups where inclusion is a concern, disabled workers feel less engaged and rank their work experiences as less satisfying than workers without disabilities.

The study, conducted in collaboration with Mercer, asked questions about the work experiences of different groups, such as people of color, women, LGBTQ employees, and measured their perception of inclusion and engagement. It consistently found that workers with disabilities scored their experience lower than other groups.

"Organizations can actually make wonderful positive change when they create an opportunity for people to disclose, be open, and feel like they can be their authentic self at work," Peter J. Rutigliano, Ph.D., a senior principal at Mercer.

References: "Organizational Inclusion Matters: The Importance of Inclusion for the Workplace." (2021). AAPD. <https://aapd.org/wp-content/uploads/2021/06/Inclusion-Matters.pdf>

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

INCLUSION

www.nasddds.org

- The action of including or being included.

"Diversity is being invited to the party. Inclusion is being asked to dance." (Verna Myers).

LEVELS OF INCLUSION

|                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|  COMMUNITYSocial inclusion is critical to economic, individual, spiritual, and quality of life. |  CONTEMPLATIONSocial inclusion is the goal of meeting and purpose.                                                   |
|  CONNECTIONSocial inclusion is based on the presence of individuals.                            |  COMPREHENSIVEComprehensive inclusion requires with governments, industry, and the private sector necessary to take. |
|  CONTRIBUTIONSocial inclusion is the right of contributing to the community.                    |                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

301 N Fairfax Street, Suite 101, Alexandria, VA 22314-2633 | Tel: 703-683-4202
www.nasddds.org | @NasdddsUs

---

---

---

---

---

---

---